Meetings are planned for the second and fourth weeks of every month (opposite weeks of the Bible Study) on Thursdays. The first book topic will be John Cassian’s The Institutes, which is about the eight deadly vices that we struggle with and the remedies to them. The book is made up of several “books”. Extra books will be available and a PDF that can be downloaded onto an e-reader, such as a kindle for easy portability.

If any of the men in the parish want to join the discussions, please text or call Alex (786) 439-9180 or Calaam (863) 257- 9023 for more information about the time, location, or date.

Communications:

Brian Delp is leader of the Communications Ministry, which includes the church website, Newsletter, and videos of the Liturgy on U-tube. If you would like to join this ministry, contact Brian Delp during Fellowship,

Connections:

Jacob Beyea is leader of the Connections Ministry where he welcomes parish members and new guests to the Liturgy. He gives a newcomer a Liturgy Book and answers any questions they may have. Contact Jacob during Fellowship if you would like to join this ministry.

Outreach Ministry:

There is usually a project every one or two months. Ideas and suggestions are welcome. If you would like to join this ministry, see Arlene Tonjes or Rebekah Becker during the Fellowship.

During November prepare two Thanksgiving baskets to be given to two needy families. Food gift cards and non-perishable food items are welcome.

On Stewardship and the Christian Life

By Father Frederick Watson

“You are Not Your Own”

“Do you not know that your body is a temple of the Holy Spirit within you, which you have from God? You are not your own; you were bought with a price. So glorify God in your body.” (1 Corinthians 6:19-20 RSV)

God is not dependent upon us for the advancement of His cause. He might have made the angels his ambassadors of Truth. He might have made known His will as He did on Mt. Sinai in thunder and lightning. But, in order to cultivate a spirit of stewardship in us, God has chosen to use human beings to do this work.

Every act of self-sacrifice for the good of others will strengthen the spirit of stewardship in the giver’s heart. Every act of self-sacrifice for the good of others will make the giver closer to Christ, who “was rich, yet for our sakes became poor.” All of the good gifts God gives to us will prove only a curse, unless we use them to benefit others, and to advance the cause of Christ on earth.

It is the increasing devotion to money-getting that deadens the spirit of the Church. When the head and hands are constantly occupied with planning and toiling for the accumulation of riches, the claims of God and humanity are forgotten. If God has blessed us with prosperity, it is not that our time and attention should be diverted from Him and given that that which He has lent us. The Giver is greater than the gift. “We have been bought with a price...we are not our own.”

We are the recipients of the abundant fruit of Christ’s self-sacrifice; and yet, when work is to be done, when our money is wanted to help in the work of the Church, we shrink from duty and ask to be excused. Indifference and selfishness seal our senses to the claims of God and His Holy Church.

Are we to recline at our ease and forget the very reason why Christ went to the Cross, suffered, and died to take away the effects of sin? Rather let us give while we have the power. Let us do while we have the strength. Let’s work while it is day. Let us, rather than reclining at our ease, devote our time and our means to the service of God, and “glorify God in our bodies.”
